

POSITION TITLE: SPORT PSYCHOLOGIST/MENTAL PERFORMANCE COACH

PRACTICE SUMMARY:

A division of Synergy Group (www.synergygroupsc.com), Synergy Performance is a rapidly growing sport/performance psychology consulting group based in Greenville, South Carolina seeking a qualified individual to join our team as a Sport Psychologist/Mental Performance Coach. Synergy Performance provides individual consultation and mental skills training to junior athletes, elite, and professional athletes, as well as business executives. We also provide sport psychology consultation to multiple NCAA Division I athletic departments and executive coaching and organizational development services to businesses and corporations on a national level. This position is an excellent opportunity for a motivated individual to immediately dive in to challenging work and contribute to the total team effort.

JOB SUMMARY:

Responsible for delivering sport psychology/mental performance training programs and services to athletes and sports organizations, as well as Clemson University sports programs, as assigned. Collaborates with Synergy Performance team and other professionals to deliver comprehensive performance programs. Aids Synergy Performance team in programming and development of materials and the development of the Synergy Performance brand. Performs other duties as assigned. Both sport/performance psychology backgrounds and licensed/license eligible candidates will be considered.

DESIRED APPLICANT TRAITS:

- Team player
- Humility
- Eager/ambitious
- Flexible
- Reliable
- Strong work ethic

JOB DUTIES:

Individual Student-Athlete Consultation:

One-on-one meetings with student-athletes to discuss mental performance techniques and training. Conducts proper intake, designs/implements individualized mental performance training plans, monitors progress, and refers to other professionals, when necessary. Takes detailed notes and observations and maintains proper records.

Team Mental Performance Training:

Provides team- and/or program-specific mental performance training programs according to guidelines provided by coaching staffs and in collaboration with the Synergy Performance team. May involve attending team meetings, coaching staff meetings, practices, and/or competition. Facilitate programming with team and coaches.

Programming, Research & Miscellaneous Duties:

Assists in the development of materials (handouts, worksheets, presentations, etc.) to aid in individual student-athlete consultations and team mental performance training. Actively involved in ongoing research projects related to sport and performance psychology.

Weekly progress meetings with Synergy Performance team. Attending staff meetings and events. Collaborate with Synergy Performance team in creation of materials or activities, as well as playing a significant role in company branding (social media, e-newsletter, etc.).

MINIMUM POSITION REQUIREMENTS:

- Master's Degree in Sport Psychology or Clinical/Counseling Psychology
- Applied sport psychology experience & progress toward CC-AASP (Association for Applied Sport Psychology Certified Consultant) status

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

- Doctoral Degree in Sport Psychology or Clinical/Counseling Psychology with focused specialization in Sport Psychology
- Licensed or license-eligible as psychologist in South Carolina
- CC-AASP status
- Experience providing sport psychology services to athlete/coach population

PREFERRED SKILLS:

- Video editing, graphic design, social media and branding, biofeedback training or certification

SALARY/BENEFITS:

- Salary commensurate with experience
- Competitive benefit package available (e.g., health, 401k, CEU, etc.)
- Greenville, SC voted 2nd best place to live in the United States by Outside Magazine

Please send questions and/or letter of interest and CV to careers@synergyperformancesc.com.